TESTIMONIALS.

I regard Mr Eddy as one of the most expert and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

CHAS MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

I have known Mr. Eddy as a patent solicitor for many years, and can cheerfully recommend him as a gentleman of high character and ability in his profession.

EDMUND BURKE,

late Commissioner of Patents.

Boston, October 10, 1870.

I have had Mr. Eddy as my solicitor for fifteen years, and have found him prompt, faithful and capable in the transaction of my business before the Patent Office. I have had occasion to employ other solicitors, but have found Mr. Eddy's charges more reasonable, and his success in obtaining patents for me quite as great as that of any other solicitor. I have no hesitation in recommending him to inventors as a capable and reliable solicitor.

A SOUTHERN PENSION RAID.

SPEECH OF

HON. LLEWELLYN POWERS

Against The Mexican Pension Bill,

In the House of Representatives,

Feb. 14, 1878.

Mr. Powers: Mr. Chairman, I do not believe the House, or any one present, is prepared to pass the bill at the present time. I propose that when before the committee and I propose there to-day, somewhat discussion must be had, push to give the reasons in brief up on which that opposition rests. I am confident that the time has not yet come when the Government shall grant gratuitous pensions to the soldiers of the war of 1846 with Mexico. There is, however connected with this bill another subject, or another provision, which I think requires it still more objectionable. I refer to the unprecedented attempt to pension soldiers or volunteers in the Black Hawk, Seminole, Florida and Creek Indian wars on the basis of thirty days' service.

I know full well that the general tendency and the natural promptings of the heart are to give and to give liberally in all cases of this kind. I sincerely trust that I regard no and duly appreciate the valor of the soldiers who fought our battles with Mexico. I know that they were valiant and true men, and I care not in what part of the field United States they now reside from what portion of our common country the great number of them may have volunteered. I trust my opposition is based upon no sectional or party consideration. I protest against this bill for the reason that I sincerely and heartily believe it opens wide a new door and proposes to take money millions from the treasury, which under existing circumstances and in this present condition of this country we can ill afford to spend. I find from the report of the committee and the conclusions to which they come as to the amount which this bill takes from the Treasury. They say that it will require but one and a half millions of dollar per annum to pay the pensions of those soldiers provided for in the bill. Admitting this to be true, it is no very small sum to add to our already heavily taxed public rental to our pension roll, making a total list of $28,000,000.

I think, however, I can satisfy any one who will carefully examine the facts and the proofs that instead of taking one and a half millions only, it will during the first year require more than $7,000,000 per annum to pay the pension list created by this bill to say nothing of the claims for arrearages extending back to 1851, resulting from the repeal of section 4716. The report of the majority of the committee is erroneous and incorrect, I do not say intentionally wrong. I do not say the majority of the committee have purposely misrepresented as to the number of survivors, but they have misstated the fact. By reference to that report gentlemen will perceive that the number of volunteer troops engaged in the Mexican war is 71,069 which is substantially correct the number being 73,532. That does not include the regular army amounting to 2,922 and the general staff of 272, or the marine and naval force estimated at 1,000. It is simply the number of volunteer troops that were engaged in that war, and the entire force was 100,454 officers and men. For the facts and figures which I propose to present here today I do not rely upon any uncertain data.

Mr. Hewitt, of Alabama: Will the gentleman allow me to ask him a question at this point?

Mr. Powers: Certainly.

Mr. Hewitt, of Alabama: Does the gentleman pretend to say that in the estimate made by the committee of the forces engaged in the Mexican war they included only the volunteers?

Mr. Powers: I will reply to the gentleman very frankly. The majority of the committee gives the number of volunteer troops engaged in the Mexican war as 73,532. They deduct from that number all killed in battle or died from wounds or disease, and call the number 15,000 instead of 12,800, also all those officers, the Mexican Veteran Association's estimate of re-enlistments, 11,000 pensioners, instead of 6,525, the number actually pensioned up to 1861, and 1,750 for persons who did not serve sixty days, and arrive at 32,215 as the basis of a pension estimate for volunteers in the Mexican war; and the report then states that the same ratio of losses should be deducted from the regular forces, as they say quite as heavily as the volunteers.

Now, if gentlemen will refer to Executive Document No. 24, volume 7 of the session of 1849 and 1850, they will find it stated on page 6 of that document that the whole number of losses sustained by the volunteer forces in that war, instead of being 12,896 or 15,000, was only 7,083; that all the losses in both the regular and volunteer forces combined were 12,896. I have that statement here contained in a report of the Adjutant-General of the Army, furnished by George W. Crawford, Secretary of War, in response to a resolution of the House of Representatives.

Now, starting with the basis of 73,000 the committee deducted from it what? Not the 7,083, the losses sustained by the volunteer force, but they deduct from that number the entire losses of the volunteers and the regulars engaged in that war, and then make similar and larger deductions from the regular forces, and take even the number thus arrived at as a pension basis and estimate the survivors by the Carlisle tables, and I apprehend you will have more than double the number of pensioners that this report gives.

Mr. Hewitt, of Alabama. Will the gentleman allow me to ask him another question?

Mr. Powers, I would prefer to finish this statement.

Mr. Hewitt, of Alabama. I desire to say that if the gentleman will refer to the report of the committee he will find that it states distinctly that the number of the volunteer forces engaged in the Mexican war was 73,260, and that the losses were 12,896.

Mr. Powers. If the gentleman will refer to Executive Document No. 24, in response to a resolution of this House, he will find that the losses of the volunteer forces were not 12,896, but 7,073; the loss for each regiment is given. The losses sustained by all our forces, volunteers and regulars, were 12,896. Am I right in that? If the gentleman will refer to the document he will find that it is so. And not only that, but the committee deduct also the number of 11,000 as having been pensioned. Now, I went to the Commissioner of Pensions and he informed me that the number pensioned was 6,525 up to 1861, and I am not aware of many additions since.

Mr. Hewitt, of Alabama. All I have to say is that if the gentleman will examine a former report of the Commissioner of Pensions he will find the number stated at 11,000. And if he will examine the American I apprehend he will find the number stated there at 11,000, corresponding with what was stated by a former Commissioner.

Mr. Powers. I have the letter of the Commissioner here before me.

Mr. Hewitt, of Alabama. And I will also state that the very estimate that the Commissioner now makes is taken from that very report where the number is stated at 11,000.

Mr. Powers. Does the gentleman deny that the number of losses deducted from the 73,000 of the volunteer forces includes not only the losses of the volunteer forces, but those of the regular forces as well?

Mr. Hewitt, of Alabama. I have this to say to the gentleman, that if he will examine the report from which he reads he will find that it states that all of the losses are not included.

Mr. Powers. I will read from the report and the gentleman can see how full it is.

WAR DEPARTMENT,

Washington, January 31, 1848.

SIR: In response to the resolution of the House of Representatives of January 31, 1848, the Secretary of War has the honor to report as follows, and has caused the same to be prepared and laid before Congress by the second Monday of December of the year, certain information relative to their military operations in the late war with Mexico. In a communication from this Department dated December 14, 1844, the House of Representatives was informed that the required information could not be fully prepared within the time designated, but that, unless otherwise directed, a report would be delivered with full returns should there be received by the Adjutant-General sufficient data for the purpose. In pursuance of the resolution of Congress of the 31st ultimo, I have the honor to transmit herewith a report of the Adjutant-General, embodying all the information now in his office, in compliance with the resolution.

Very respectfully your obedient servant,

GEORGE W. CRAWFORD,

Secretary of War.

Hon. HOWELL COBB,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

The figures I rely upon are the official report which he made after having taken time to insure that the report should be full and correct. I think that is very fair in answer to the gentleman.

Mr. Hewitt, of Alabama. The gentleman will find that the number of killed and died of disease in the Mexican war will far exceed the number given.

Mr. Powers. I have found nothing of that kind, and I have read the statement very carefully. I have here the statement of the Adjutant-General, where he says he has complete information upon the subject. I have found nothing that indicates me to believe there is an error. Now when the gentleman deducts all these, there is still a balance of over twenty-two thousand and how he reduces that to six thousand I do not understand.

I suppose now to state carefully what I believe the fair number of persons entitled to pensions under this bill. If this were a matter of precedent or right, if this were in fulfilling the action of Congress in reference to soldiers of the Revolution, or the soldiers of the war of 1812, if the soldiers of the war with Mexico would come here and plead with us as the soldiers of the war with Mexico could plead, we are entitled to this in accordance with usage and the precedents that the Government established. I cannot how much it would cost, I would vote for it. But, Mr. Chairman, such is not the case. There has never yet been an instance where men of an average age of fifty-six years have been granted gratuitous pensions by any Congress for service in any war.

The bill proposes to grant pensions not to those who were wounded, (they are already provided for,) not to the widows and orphans of those who died but to men many of whom are in the prime of life not to those who are poor and needy alone as did the act of 1818 pensioning some revolutionary soldiers, but to men who occupy positions on this floor, who are officers in this House, who are members of the other House who occupy prominent positions everywhere, many of whom are in comfortable circumstances and are not in need of pensions.

I say it has never been the policy of the Government to grant pension in cases of this kind, and I could refer to the debates both when pensions were granted to revolutionary soldiers and when they were granted to the soldiers of the war of 1812 I will read from those debates to satisfy gentlemen that I am correct in my conclusions.

The average age of the soldier who was listed in 1861 the first year of our late war was 35 years. I assume the same average for the soldiers in the war with Mexico and I believe in this I do not differ from the report of the committee. As the average time of the Mexican war was 1847, the average age of the Mexican soldier to day would be fifty-six years. When it was claimed, [illegible] that had passed [illegible] in the [illegible] there was accumulated [illegible] who was [illegible] to champion the [illegible] sions to the soldiers [illegible] what he said upon that occasion, some information [illegible] the twelve [illegible] this act. That [illegible] pensioned, was after the men to receive the pensions had attained an average age of [illegible] years. He did not propose to pension the prime of life. And of an average age of fifty-six years, as are the soldiers of the Mexican war to-day. Mr. Mexican said:

"It is now nearly fifty-six years since the war of 1812 was ended. Very few of those who participated in that war are under seventy-five years of age. More of them are eighty than seventy-five. What is called the pauper clause of this bill will require any one of those old men, in order to enjoy the benefit of it to prove that he is substantially a pauper.

It is said that if we pass the bill with the amendment offered by the Senator from Kentucky it will constitute an unfortunate precedent. If fifty years from this time, if fifty-six years after the end of the late war, the country, then so vastly increased in population and wealth, should choose to pension those who shall then survive, who took part in the war it will not be a heavy burden upon the country. There is no danger to arise from this precedent, for the precedent establishes nothing but this fact after a war shall have ended fifty-six years—which nearly all the soldiers of that war have died and but a few old men are left, it is then proper to pension them without regard to their pecuniary condition.

Now thirty, as I the case of the Mexican war—

I therefore very confidently assert that this bill is not sustained by any such reasons or basis. Upon any such grounds as that we are pensioning soldiers of the wars of 1832 and 1877, that the pension law of 1813, granting pensions to the soldiers who fought our battles in the Revolution, was based upon the argument that they had received no pay, that the money in which they had been paid was not worth more than ten cents on the dollar, perhaps not more than one cent on the dollar, that it was a debt which we owed them, and which was a more imperative upon us to pay, at the time we had a plenty of money in the Treasury and Congress could well afford to be generous, or at least just toward those of so die who have established by their valor the independence, the free and the institutions of this country.

The pension act of 1871 as stated by its strongest advocate Senator Morton, was passed upon the principle that when fifty-six years had elapsed after the close of the war [illegible] when but few of the soldiers survived who [illegible] the youngest must be sixty-five years it was proper and right to give those few men in the declining years of their life a gratuity.

How is it now? [illegible] as it is proposed to do here. In the first place I have stated to you and I think it will not be denied that the average age of the Mexican soldier would [illegible] fifty-six years. Most men at fifty-six [illegible] and all the masses [illegible] are [illegible] by much [illegible] ony, retirement and reform. Does this attempt to take so many millions from the Treasury to pension men of this age and for this peculiar purpose, comport with the long profession I have [illegible] heard and read in the [illegible] coming from the democratic party in power? As this measure is largely supported and clamored for by the [illegible] of soldiers not within the [illegible] sole [illegible] the House I [illegible] seeking this new and strange avenue to the Treasury is a part of your reform [illegible] reform policy?

Have any men of that age who [illegible] in other wars ever received such pensions as this bill proposes to give? What soldier of the war with Mexico [illegible] obtained the same age, who [illegible] have walked the same number of miles as the soldiers who fought the battles of the Revolution and the war of 1812, when that number of years shall have elapsed I will follow the precedent and gladly vote for gentlemen on the other side [illegible] will not [illegible] say that I care not how much our [illegible] embarrass I, I care not how much the industries of the country may be [illegible] or the laborer crying for bread, or his family shivering and starving around the drole sheet stone yet I will vote to give them the same pension and more out to them the same measure that has been meted out and given to those who fought our battles before the Mexican war. I admit their valor, but I say they are entitled to no better treatment and no different than that which the Government has given others. This country has ever been kind and generous to its soldiers.

What this bill proposes is no part of the original contract but it simply addresses itself to our sense of what is right and proper in the premises and for the country.

Now, Mr. Chairman, let me call attention for a moment to the number of survivors to be pensioned under this bill, for this question of cost is an element we are to consider.

Mr. Luttrell. Will the gentleman allow me to ask him a question?

Mr. Powers. Certainly.

Mr. Luttrell. I have listened with a great deal of interest to the remarks of the gentleman from Maine, but I would like to know whether we are to understand from what he has said that we are to wait until all of these survivors die before we make any provision for them? [Laughter.]

Mr. Powers. I understand the gentleman from California pleases and will answer him. I would wait as long before I pensioned the soldiers of the war with Mexico as the Government waited when it had funds to spare before it pensioned those men who fought for eight long years to secure the independence of this country. The gentleman understands that this bill does not propose to pension only men poor and needy, but is to pension men in almost every walk of life and to tax the industries of this country for the purpose of raising funds with which to pay them.

Mr. Luttrell. Let me ask the gentleman a further question, whether he forgets that the valor of these men was the means of acquiring for this country a great addition to the public domain?

Mr. Powers. I understand that a few soldiers under Fremont and some American settlers succeeded in wresting California from Mexico. I know that $30,000,000 (the expenses of the war, and the value of our troops gave us a large and valuable territory, but I do not forget that it is not always the man who conquer foreign territory who have done the greatest service to the Republic. I think the soldiers of the revolutionary war, by wresting from the British Crown the thirteen colonies and [illegible] the foundation of our Republic, and [illegible] over that the soldiers of 1861 by preserving the integrity of this Republic, the men who brought back into this Union and preserved to this nation every State [illegible] every foot of our territory, are not less entitled to our thanks than those soldiers of the Mexican war for their conquest.

Mr. Hewitt, of Alabama. Let me now, if gentleman will allow me, ask—

Mr. Powers. Let me answer one at a time.

Mr. Hewitt, of Alabama. Certainly.

Mr. Powers. I have said that I would pension the soldiers who fought our battles in the war with Mexico as generously. I would treat them as liberally as the Government did the soldiers who fought the battles of our Independence, and as the Government treats the soldiers of the war of the war of 1812.

Mr. Hewitt, of Alabama. I wish to ask the gentleman whether he would make any difference between them?

Mr. Powers. No, sir. I was proceeding to consider the number to be pensioned, and desire that this be fairly and correctly stated. I have taken some pains to look into this, and I have taken pains to satisfy myself whether the data to be found in the [illegible] Department is correct or not. I asked the [illegible] sioner whether there was any estimate as to the probable number of the survivors of the war of 1812 when they were pensioned in 1871. He informed me that it was expected that 40,000 would apply, and no more than that number have applied.

You will find by examining the record that nearly thousand have been pensioned as old soldiers of the war of 1812 and widows entitled under the act. Yet the gentleman would have us to understand that [illegible] soldiers of the war with Mexico cannot find only some ten or twelve thousand survivors. Whoever will look around in his own district in most cases four [illegible] who were in the Mexican war, and the survivors of the war of 1812.

Mr. Hewitt, of Alabama. In my county of Butler two.

Mr. Powers. In my county I apprehend I can find more than two. I know a member in the Legislature of my State from my county who served in the war with Mexico.

Let me know exactly what we are doing, and whether when they say we are only to take a million and a half dollars out of the Treasury per annum we will take three or four times or even five times that amount.

I can tell the reliable method by which we can estimate this. First, I make this statement that those gentlemen who were so constitutionally enfeebled as to succumb to disease are included in the twelve thousand and odd hundred that are deducted on account of deaths. Now, the whole number of soldiers engaged in the Mexican war including the estimated number of persons in the naval force, is 105,000. Then you will find by referring to the same executive document from which I have here before quoted. The number of deaths was 12,896, the number of desertions was 9,283. The number honorably discharged was 55,854. The war closed in 1848, and the deaths to that time in which I [illegible] The average age I assume was twenty-six years in 1848 thirty years ago, admitting the average age in 1877 to have been twenty-five years, the average age now would be fifty-five years. Now a calculation by the Carlisle tables ought to give almost to a certainty, certainly very near, the number of survivors. But the Mexican Veteran Association estimates but the number of re-enlistments is 11,000. On what basis they put it I know not. But as there were re-enlistments and as it is absolutely impossible for as to know how many there were, I accepted their statement. The number of pensioners from 1848 to 1861 were 6,525, as appears from the records of the Pension Office. To the re-enlistments and the number of 10,000 persons who went to Mexico and were omitted as enlisting.

Now, six thirty years have elapsed since 1848. According to the Carlisle tables it will take the average of men and women who would easily succumb to disease which is nearly seven thousand. I had provided—I say according to the Carlisle tables—that the number of persons who lived attained the age of twenty-six years. I prefer it if I recollect correctly, will die when they attain the age of fifty-six. Taking that as a basis—and we have a right to assume that it is the correct method of calculation—and we arrive at the result that the number of survivors of the Mexican war is to say nothing about the widows entitled to [illegible] 000 in the report, not full shows of 5,000, I believe take the number that enlisted, [illegible] deaths in action, death, discharge, [illegible] as estimated by them selves, and the Carlisle tables, the survivors by the [illegible] number of [illegible] 60,000, not [illegible] the number of [illegible] of soldiers not within the [illegible] out of the whole [illegible] to apply, will [illegible] them it would [illegible] greater than the number of who will receive pensions [illegible] of [illegible] to say [illegible] Mexican war was 6,000, the number who served in the Florida war was 11,112, those serving in the Creek war were 13,348, computing the survivors by the Carlisle tables and we find of the 6,424 persons serving in those wars 30,952 now survive to be pensioned not counting the widows of deceased soldiers. It costs $8,000 to pay the pensioners at the present rate of pay and other incidental charges will bring it up to over $100 per man cash, to the [illegible] act.

Now, if you pass the bill you cannot pay the pensioners for the first year for less than $7,000,000. How can you [illegible] pass with $7,000,000? How can you [illegible] not look to the [illegible] of the country who [illegible] look through the land and look to [illegible] employed and see almost every industry prostrated by the burdens of local, State, and national taxation? And what do we [illegible] and extravagance of the [illegible] of our future and mock [illegible] by [illegible] does almost [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] to the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

EMINENT SUCCESS OF REPRESENTATIVE POWERS IN HIS FIRST SPEECH.

[Editorial Correspondence.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 18, 1878.

I chanced to be present when Hon. Llewellyn Powers, our Representative in Congress, made his first speech in the House, on Friday last, and was exceedingly gratified by the ability he displayed and by the conspicuous recognition thereof by both parties. The first speech of a new member is always a trying ordeal and is more often a failure than success. It is rare that a new member can command the attention of the House, and he is apt to be treated with indifference or to be snubbed by older members if he appears to be attempting to spread himself. Mr. Powers has been quiet during the session, contenting himself with voting and attending to his committee work, until the reporting of a bill from his committee on Friday last, rendered it his duty to give utterance to his opposition, which he did with great effect. The bill is one of the numerous southern schemes to take millions from the Treasury in pensions that would go almost entirely to men in the South who took part in the Rebellion, and this particular measure is without any precedent in our legislative history. It was presented and advocated by leading Southern members, and when Mr. Powers began to speak in opposition they gathered around his seat and sought to embarrass him by questions and interruptions. Randolph Tucker took a seat directly behind him, and other prominent Democrats gathered in the aisle in the vicinity. Mr. Powers stated his opposition so clearly and massed his facts and figures so convincingly, that the advocates of the bill were turned into a great flutter, and the readiness and keenness of his repartees, added at each interruption to the strength of his argument. He was listened to with the closest attention throughout, and when he concluded, was warmly congratulated by leading members upon his successful effort. So effective was his speech that the movers of the bill at once asked that the Committee of the Whole should rise, thus arresting further consideration of the measure, which they felt would be defeated by the effort of Mr. Powers' speech if passed to a vote. The friends of Mr. Powers are much gratified by the marked recognition of his ability as a debater. Hon. Eugene Hale says he never knew a member to make so strong and effective a first speech before, on a controverted question and Messrs. Frye and Reed are equally complimentary. Speaker Randall also paid Mr. Powers a high compliment as did a number of the leading Southern members. The press here has recognized in the new member from Maine a powerful debater, even the Democratic Post conceding the marked ability of the speech, while the N. Y. Tribune made it the subject of a special report.

I send you the full text in the Record and have felt it due to our Representative to inform his constituents of the excellent effect produced here. Mr. Powers is ready, clear-headed, quick and apt in repartee, and as he is careful in the investigation of facts on which he may have to speak, he proves a powerful debater. His first speech in the House is conceded on all sides to have been a great success, which has at once given him a place among the influential members of that body. C. A. B.

Full text of speech on first page of this paper.

The tone of the native press of India at at present is not such as to be very reassuring to England, and indications are not wanting to show that in case of trouble with Russia the loyalty of India would be of a somewhat uncertain quantity. One paper says: "England will lose her prestige in Asia if she now refuses to fight Turkey. England has no efficient army. Like her, Carthage possessed immense wealth, but that could not save the great commercial city of ancient days from complete downfall." Another paper says: "What may befall Asia fifty years after the overthrow of Turkey would be really fearful to contemplate." Another repeats an observation attributed to Bismarck, "England is a sick old woman." A fourth remarks that "British soldiers grow fat in peace. Englishmen are now only well versed in the art of coining money, and will not be able to resist the progress of Russian arms in India." A fifth, still bolder, states that there will be no great difficulty in driving out the usurper, "that is, the English," if all men jointly make a bold effort. These expressions may mean little or much, but at the least they show a restlessness and a distaste for British domination which might attain to threatening dimensions in certain contingencies.

The London Times, in alluding to the famine in China, borrows considerable trouble about the future of America. It suggests the possibility of this country being overrun by myriads of Celestials, driven from home by the scarcity of food, and thinks the Chinese difficulty may become a greater menace to the future of the United States than the negro difficulty was at its worst. But the Times forgets that it is a long walk from Northern China to the United States, and if the Johnnies are too poor to buy bread they certainly cannot afford to pay their passage to this country. We have never yet known of shipmasters generous enough to go into the free transportation business, and if the Chinese government attempted to send its paupers here in great numbers we presume a remedy for the evil might be devised.

A plan is on foot for a bargain between the Administration and Governor Nicholls of Louisiana, by which the latter will pardon the members of the Returning Board, provided the President promises to remove them from the Federal offices which they hold. That is, in plain English, the Administration will submit to the sacrifice of the character of the men who elected it to power, if it can be relieved of the stigma of allowing them to rust out in the penitentiary. This scheme is a worthy successor of the other great "bargain" which caused all this trouble—we beg pardon, the "understanding."—Boston Traveller.

Austria called a conference of the great powers at Vienna. Russia objected to the place, and asked that the conference be held at a smaller place, and away from the influence of political centres. The result of all this is that Russia carries her point, and the conference will meet at Baden-Baden, in Germany. The different Governments will be represented each by its Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The Daily News' correspondents with Gen. Gourko do not praise the conduct of the Bulgarians on the south side of the Balkans. They say that they have committed many murders and that they invariably strip the Turkish dead.

A Western paper (Northwestern Miller) warns its readers against purchasing what is claimed to be a new kind of wheat, the "Diamond spring wheat," and "The Wheat of Taos," advertised by seedsmen in Cleveland, Tennessee, and declares both samples of wheat to be the same kind and nearly worthless for flour. It is always the part of a prudent man to not be in a hurry to try the new kinds of seeds, especially when they are sold at high prices. It is better to wait a year or two and see how it proves. Remember the "Hulless Oat" humbug and learn wisdom.

M. Outrey, the French Minister at Washington, denies that there is the slightest chance that the Paris Exhibition will be postponed on account of the possibility of war in Europe. He says that all the reports from Paris in respect to the Exhibition are most favorable, and indicate that there will be nothing to prevent the opening on the first of May.

PERISTALTIC LOZENGES.

The effects of

When long continued are pains in the head, dizziness, nausea or sickness at the stomach, general uneasiness in the abdominal region, congestion of the liver, and hence an impaired digestion of the blood, colic, and especially the

PILES.

The grand proximate cause of Dyspepsia is debility of the stomach. The debility of the liver is apparent from the small quantity of bile discharged from that organ, and also by a dull pain on the right side. Under whichever form

DYSPEPSIA

Appears there is always languor or debility, exertion fatigues, the pulse is weak, the step disturbed, the extremities cold. The bowels for the most part furred or covered with a creamy mucous in the morning. No person with a constipated or irregular state of the bowels can have sound health.

It is evident, that some gentle laxative, slightly stimulant to the mucous membrane of the intestines, for aid with a tonic, that increases the secretions of the liver and gradually strengthening the stomach, must be a reasonable combination and reach the case. That this combination will do, for proof of which we are happy to be able to refer those heretofore disappointed, to the most reliable physicians, who have long used this remedy in their practice, and also to every apothecary by whom the Peristaltic Lozenges are sold.

These Lozenges will repair the mischief caused by the excessive use of those "Patent Pills," with which the country has for years been flooded.

They are so agreeable to the taste, and convenient in form, that children eat them readily after rejecting the usual nauseous remedies. In those symptoms opposed to indicate the presence of Worms, they act a proper remedy.

Wednesday's Legislative Proceedings.

Senate

AUGUSTA Feb 20 The Senate met at 9 o'clock and Rev Mr Higgins of Augusta offered the Chaplain

Papers from the House were read and acted on in concurrence

The motion of Martin that the vote whereby the Senate indefinitely postponed the bill to pay E Eager for three instead of two peremptory challenges of Jurors was reconsidered and the bill was assigned

Resolves appropriating $7 000 for the Maine General Hospital was engrossed on the report of the committee

The bill or act to amend the charter of Bath was passed to be engrossed

Bill to incorporate the Fairfield Boom Companies which had been engrossed in the House and indefinitely postponed in the Senate came back, that branch adhering to its former vote and proposing a committee of conference Messrs Talman of Lincoln and Burleigh were placed

Mr Morrison called up the resolve appropriating $4 000 for a road from Kingfield to Carrabassett which had been refused a passage in the House It was discussed and finally passage in concurrence

Mr Plaisted presented the resolve adopted by the joint convention yesterday after noon for a new Insane Hospital, which was referred to the Committee on Insane Hospital

Mr Bartlett presented an order that the Secretary of State be directed to send blanks to the municipal officers of all cities and towns upon which they shall return to the Legislature the degree of insanity and pecuniary condition of all insane persons in their town before September 1st 1878

Mr Stevens took up the bill to amend chapter 82 of the Revised Statutes, relating to fences, allowing lumbermen and others to set fly nets in certain cases and was indefinitely postponed by a vote of 21 to 7

Mr Perkins moved to take from the table the bill relating to terms of convicts in State Prison on his motion it was indefinitely postponed

Mr Barker then moved to reconsider the vote by which the resolve appropriating $5 000 for the Maine General Hospital was passed and assigned for consideration at 3 P M

Mr Stevens of Penobscot moved to amend by striking out the words paid for deficiencies under the call for troops in 1863 and never refunded the amount called for by the resolves of 1867 The Senate had it under consideration at the hour of adjournment

The bill appropriating $32 00 for the Bucksport Normal school and the resolve appropriating $4 000 in aid of a bridge in Lincoln were passed to be engrossed

Afternoon Session

The resolve authorizing the Treasurer to negotiate a temporary loan not exceeding $500 000 at six per cent interest, was passed The Senate refused to concur with the House in striking out $115 500 from the state Prison resolve but receded $1 000

Concurred in the House amendments to the bill and passed it Indefinitely postponed the bill and resolve in relation to the High Schools and the resolve reimbursing Alexander and others for moneys paid out for war purposes was referred to a Committee consisting of the Attorney General Adjutant General and the same to report to the Governor and Council The act providing for the annual Legislative location and limit, providing for the appointment of a committee and for buying or providing temporary rooms having failed for engrossment was passed to be engrossed

Resolve in favor of Bangor Children's Home and Portland Female Orphan Asylum was taken up and indefinitely postponed

Mr Young favored the motion because the State has an institution which she is bound by law to support for the benefit of soldiers' orphans and was opposed to distributing the State funds in private homes Mr Strickland ably advocated the appropriation and opposed the motion as wrong economy Mr McLaughlin spoke strongly in opposition to the motions and argued it a matter of economy, as the children are supported for less than half the expense to the state at Portland than it will cost at Bath, Mr Jones of Lewiston, supported the motion, Mr Pierce of Portland questioned the ability of the Bath Home to accommodate all the children, Mr Lothrop opposed the resolves, The resolves were both indefinitely postponed

Afternoon Session

The House granted leave to withdraw on petition for a State Board of Health. A resolve appropriating $8 000 for the Naval and Military Asylum at Bath was passed to be engrossed, also an amendment to the chap 110 R S making the maximum for board of prisoners in jails $2 50 per week

The Knights of Honor.

THE BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

WARREN, Feb 20. At the forenoon session of the Board of Agriculture papers on permanent pastures by P L Leland of Presquelsle and improving and renovating run by Bodwell of York were discussed by a large number of speakers The attendance was large The officers elected are W W Harris of Portland President Geo Flint Mason Vice-President, S F Boardman, Augusta Secretary The next session will be held at Presque Isle Aroostook county early in Autumn

DOMESTIC NEWS.

FORTY FIFTH CONGRESS. Second Session

Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20

The bill to regulate the compensation of Postmasters was taken up and Mr Hamlin submitted an amendment as additional legislation providing that the President and Vice President of the United States Senators Representatives and Delegates in Congress Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the House may send and receive free through the mails all written and printed communications not exceeding two ounces in weight After a brief discussion as to the propriety of restoring the franking privilege, the amendment was agreed to—yeas 24

The bill was then read a third time and passed

The Vote in Detail

YEAS—Allison, Bock Burnside, Butler Cameron of Penn, Chaffee, Christiancy Conkling Conover, Dawes Dorsey Edmunds, Garland Groover, Hamlin Harris, Howe, Ingalls Johnston, Jones of Florida, Kirkwood, Lamar, McDonald, Matthews, Morgan, Paddock, Ransom, Saunders Spencer Teller, Windom and Withers—33

NAYS—Bailey, Bayard, Booth, Cameron of Wis Cockrell Coke, Davis of Illinois Eaton, Kantle, Ferry McCreery, McMillan Merriman, Morrill Oglesby, Pinkth Saulsbury, Southerland, Voorhees, Wadleigh and Wallace—21

Patterson who would have voted for the amendment was paired with Armstrong

Mr Sherman then moved the consideration of the unfinished business being a bill to amend an act of the Legislature Assembly of Wyoming to provide for the organization of Crook and Pease counties and to provide for holding court therein approved by the Governor of said territory on the 13th of December, 1877 Passed

On motion of Mr Wallace the Senate took up the bill introduced by him to authorize a long bond for investment in sawlogs so it should come up as unfinished business to-morrow

At four o'clock the Senate went into Executive session and when the doors were reopened adjourned until to-morrow

House

Mr Harris called up the contested election case of Acklen vs Darrell and a discussion arose as to the right of Mr Clymer to the floor to reply to a speech made by Mr Garfield

Mr Bland asked if it was in order to move to go to the Speaker's table to reach the silver bill The Speaker replied that it was not

Mr Bland said he should object to debate it was out of the regular order,

Mr Stephens said he would at the end of Clymer's speech move to postpone the election case, for if it had not been discussed it will and take up the business on the Speaker's table

Mr Foster suggested that the gentleman make that motion now, Mr Clymer having been refused the floor

Mr Stephens made his motion to go to the business on the Speaker's table

The Speaker remarked that there would first have to be a morning hour, but he would recognize the gentleman so as to make a motion to postpone at the end of the speech made by Mr Price on the election case

Mr Stephens then addressed the House in favor of Darrell

Mr Potter of N Y and Mr Ellis of La also favored the claims of Mr. Acklen

A vote was taken on the minority resolution declaring C B Darrell duly elected and it was rejected, yeas 116, nays 119,—a party vote with the exception of Cox of Ohio who voted with the Democrats The majority resolution declaring J H Acklen elected was adopted without division Mr Acklen then appeared at the bar of the House and was sworn in, taking the iron clad oath Adjourned

It is understood that Representative Bland will be recognized by the Speaker to-morrow on motion to proceed with the business on the Speaker's table and lay aside all business in advance of the silver bill and following him Representative Buckner will move to refer the bill to the Committee on Banking and Currency, as instructed by the recent silver union meeting whereupon Representative Stephens will move concurrence in the Senate amendments to the bill.

WASHINGTON.

The Outrages on American Fishermen

NEW YORK Feb 20 It is rumored that the British Minister Thornton has advised the home Government to send a British cruiser to Newfoundland to prevent further outrages on American fishermen and the breaking of the fishery treaty.

The North Carolina Life-Saving Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 The Secretary of the Treasury sent to the Senate to-day a response to the resolution requesting information in regard to the condition of the life-saving service on the coast of North Carolina, in which he makes the following recommendations

First—To augment the life saving stations upon that coast so as to bring them within an average distance of four or five miles

Second—To provide for five additional stations to be located at suitable points between the southernmost station and Cape Fear.

Third—To increase the salaries of keepers of stations to $600 per annum universally and to confer upon these men powers of inspectors of customs.

Fourth—To increase the life saving crews from six to eight.

Fifth—To provide for manning and opening of stations from September 1st to March 1st of each year or for a longer period if expedient.

The Funding Bill.

The new funding bill for the Pacific road provides for the company's paying $1,500,000 annually to the Government as a sinking fund and to pay 5 per cent. of net earnings to the government, the term, net earnings to apply to all receipts of the company after deducting the running expenses with interest on the first mortgage bonds. The government allows companies to retain one-half of the receipts for Government transportation.

Treasury Raids for the South

It is stated that the bills of Shelley of Alabama and Garland of Wisconsin open the doors of the Treasury to illegal Southern claims aggregating $32,000,000, thereby 65,000,000 more than the government was benefitted by the confiscation of rebel property.

LEO XIII.

Cardinal Pecci Elected Pope.

Three Ballots Taken

The Announcement to the People.

NEW YORK, Feb 20 A Rome special says the Conclave has been in session since Monday evening and only two unsuccessful ballots were taken, Cardinal Pecci being chosen on the third The moderates stated between Franchi and Pecci but the conflicting elements became harmonized and the result was the election of the latter The announcement to the people was made with the prescribed formalities and ceremonies from the Vatican and created intense excitement, although it has been accepted as a foregone conclusion that an Italian Cardinal would be chosen

Cardinal Pecci takes the name of Leo XIII

Bismarck Sulked

LONDON, Feb 21. The Standard's correspondent at Berlin says Prince Bismarck considers Cardinal Pecci's election to the Papacy the most suitable one possible at the present time.

The Ultramontanes Furious

The Rome correspondent of the Times telegraphs The Pope after his election assumed the pontifical robes and received the homage of the Cardinals in the sixtine chapel The crowd before the Vatican waiting for the benediction of the Pope is estimated to have numbered 20 000 Only a portion of the crowd was able to hear the benediction, as the under gallery from which it was pronounced looks into St Peters. The Ultramontanes are furious at the result of the election. This correspondent draws attention to the fact that Cardinal Pecci when he was Camerlengo ordered the Pontifical carriages to be prepared for the new Pope to drive out The correspondent adds that the myth of the Pope's captivity is thus exploded.

There will be no session of the city schools on Friday, the 22d,—Washington's Birthday.

La t evening about twenty five couples from Bucksport attended the dance at South Orrington.

Be sure and read the advertisement headed "Strike for Homes" The fare from Portland to Omaha only $2100

The regular public meeting of the Women's Crusade will be held this evening instead of Friday evening, at City Hall

The E & N. A. Bondholders met yesterday afternoon, but adjourned for one month without transacting any business

The parties who are engaged in cutting ice find it very difficult to obtain sawdust, and are obliged to send a long distance after it

The weekly prayer meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held this afternoon at four o'clock in the First Baptist chapel

The Overseers of the Poor raised a crew yesterday from the Alms House and outside who unloaded from the cars and put in a couple hundred cords of wood in just two hours time

The little hoisting engine on the pier at the E & N A draw bridge caught fire from a spark from the engine yesterday afternoon but the freight hands soon extinguished the flames before any damage was done.

The Katahdin leaves Boston this evening for Bucksport and will return on Monday when she will be hauled off for repairs and painting, and the Cambridge will commence running on the route next Thursday

Yesterday Marshal Low received a letter from Sheriff Elliott of Springfield Illinois stating that he had reached home safely with his prisoner and that Chenoweth would be likely to spend some years in the penitentiary

Miss Seavey formerly of the firm of L W Partridge & Co has taken a part of the store occupied by C J Dakin where she will be pleased to have her friends and all in want of millinery and fancy goods give her a call.

Rev Geo W Field will in response to a written request signed by sixty of the young men of his congregation repeat the sermon he preached on temperance last Sabbath morning, next Sabbath evening from his pulpit

Rev A M Knapp's sixth lecture on 'Art and Nature' last evening was one of great interest and in abstract prepared for this issue but crowded out on account of the press of other matter will be presented to our readers to-morrow morning

Last Tuesday evening, Riverside Lodge, I O of G T. of Orrington, gave an oyster supper in their hall and quite a large delegation from Floral Lodge of this city availed themselves of this opportunity to take a moonlight sleigh ride The hearty welcome they received fully justifies their belief that the people of Orrington do nothing by halves

We understand that Mr Carter who is largely interested in the slate business at Monson, was seriously injured a few days since He was engaged in some kind of work at the quarry when a large rock fell on him cutting his head badly, throwing one of his hips out of place and inflicting other injuries At last accounts he was in a very critical condition

The West Branch drive was put up at auction yesterday and bid off to J L Smart at a very low rate The rate was 77 cents from the head at Chesuncook, 83 from the foot 25 from the lower lakes and 3 from Shad Pond This will be the third year that Mr Smart will have charge of the drive It is expected that it will embrace forty millions boom scale

ORONO Rev Mr McGlauflin and wife of Orono were pleasantly surprised last Wednesday evening by a delegation of nearly forty of their parishioners A collection of suspicious parcels were deposited upon the table, which on being opened were found to contain acceptable articles of use and comfort. The surprise was complete, the evening most enjoyable, and the occasion one to be held in lasting and grateful remembrance by the recipients

OLDTOWN. Mr. Editor The reading of Mr G W Snow's poem in Oldtown Monday evening, was well attended and enjoyed especially by those who have taken personal interest in the rise and progress of the temperance reform——The Crusade and Reform Club, of Bangor, are contemplating a visit to Oldtown, en masse something this Spring The announcement of their coming has always been the slogan for marshaling the clans in this vicinity and it is proposed to greet their coming now with a Temperance Festival, and to hold high carnival for aid and awakening to the cause

EXCITEMENT IN OLDTOWN. Tuesday night several fellows created quite a disturbance at Oldtown. They went into a house in that place and began to smash things generally when they were complained of and Constables Stafford and Hunt started out to look them up They succeeded in arresting one fellow by the name of Cunningham, who appeared to be a rough customer. While on the way to the lock up he drew a knife and succeeded in cutting one of the officers clothing.—The next morning two other fellows in the party were also arrested and all of them were fined $10 and costs.

MR. ANDREWS' BENEFIT. The complimentary benefit to Mr. H. H. Andrews under the auspices of St. John's Commandery K. T., occurred at Music Hall last evening, and was one of the many pleasant events of the season. The Orchestra furnished magnificent music and a large number participated in the dancing. The floor was very politely managed, and the programme was well arranged. At intermission Fraser was in the gallery and supplied all who desired with excellent refreshments, after which the dancing was resumed, and continued until the small hours warned the merry participants that it was time to depart for their homes.

PLYMOUTH. Mr. Editor—The closing exercises of the winter term of school at Plymouth under the instruction of Mr. L. P. Toothaker took place on Friday, Feb. 15th. The house was well filled with parents and friends. The forenoon was devoted to Mathematics and Physics. The afternoon's exercises consisted of U. S. History, Physiology, Reading and Rhetorical exercises. Some of the pieces were worthy of more than a passing notice. Among these was a composition by Mr. W. G. Loud, Subject—"Broken Homes," which was read in a manner, showing the reader felt the full force of the sad and truthful words he was uttering. Willie Bateman gave a declamation on "Teaching," and those who are engaged in that work had a beautiful picture drawn by Mr. B. Granville Lord's declamation, subject "Conscience" did not fail to interest his hearers. Miss Allie Chapman's recitation "Independence Bell" was listened to with marked attention and patriotic feeling of pride for the old bellman and his bell which rang forth the glad cry of Liberty. Miss Lillie Malcolm had a very pathetic selection "Father's Trust" and it deeply impressed those who are mourning the loss of a father's love Miss Lena Chapman delivered the Valedictory which was an original poem and contained many words of encouragement and cheer to schoolmates, teacher, and friends Remarks were then offered by Messrs Chapman, McIntire, Weymouth, Woodman and others, after which all feeling well repaid for the time spent in the schoolroom with their children

"Ours" This evening the Ruskin Club will present the beautiful comedy, "Ours" at Norombega As only a very limited portion of the new members was used in the presentation of "Our Boys" on last Tuesday evening this will prove a grand opportunity of seeing some of the other scenes This play has attracted a great deal of attention in other cities, and in the second act particularly, some very fine acting is done The music this evening will be furnished by McQuown's Orchestra and and a full band will be introduced upon the stage Give them another full house

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT AT HAMPDEN. The beautiful Cantata of "Esther," by Bradbury was well rendered in Hampden on Tuesday evening at the Town Hall, by the singers of that place, under the direction of Mr Geo S Silsby The audience which filled the hall manifested their satisfaction by repeated applause The costumes were appropriate many of them brilliant It will be repeated this evening at the same place, for the benefit of the Congregational Society An opportunity is thus offered for a short and pleasant delightful and an agreeable entertainment

ONLY A MISTAKE OF AN HOUR IN THE TIME Last evening at eight o'clock the bell at the Unitarian church was rung and for a short time people were mystified as to what it meant, but some one started the cry of fire and in a few minutes a general alarm was sounded The department were soon rushing about the street but after spending a few minutes searching for the fire they ascertained that it was a false alarm, and returned to their quarters Upon making some inquiries the police learned that Mr L P Dunham, the regular bell ringer, was away from home and that Jed Hall the bell man in charge had to think that he had to ring that bell, and making a slight mistake in the time, he rang the nine o'clock bell at eight o'clock

CUTTING ICE ON THE PENOBSCOT—Quite a large amount of ice is being cut this season on the Penobscot At the crop on the Hudson and in other sections of the country is light It is thought that there will be a large demand for this article next summer At Crosby's ship yard an ice house is being erected with a capacity of three thousand tons, and Messrs J H Robinson & Co and W C P Dunn are now engaged in filling it for Messrs Hinckley & Nealley Swett & Co S L Pearson & Co and Crosby Brothers They employ some thirty-five men and four horses, and have already housed something over one thousand tons They have also scraped another field for Messrs J P Bass, N C Ayer, and others, who are thinking of erecting a house just above the one already mentioned, with a capacity of six thousand tons The ice is some eighteen inches thick and is clear and handsome About a mile below Messrs D Sargent & Son are also carrying on quite an extensive business and furnish employment for about one hundred and twenty five men, boys and horses—This concern also proposes to erect a house or field further down the river We understand that some other parties about the city are thinking of laying in a stock of ice These operations furnish employment for men who would otherwise be idle and will prove a great benefit to the laboring men about our city who are willing to work

POST DAN'L WHITE

Camp Fire at Kenduskeag

Mr. Editor On Monday evening Post Dan'l White, No 12, G A R, celebrated the 10th anniversary of the order with a "camp fire" in the town hall at this village. The hall was finely decorated with flags, pictures and an exhibition of fire arms from the old flint-lock of a hundred years ago with knapsack, cartridge box and bayonet to the highly polished rifle and sabre of the present time A small tent was pitched in one corner of the hall displaying its flag that denoted "Headquarters" There was a large gathering of invited guests who enjoyed the occasion immensely

Several songs, reminding the soldiers of Camp Fire, "on Southern soil," as "Tramp tramp," "John Brown," "The Little Octoroon," "Sherman's March to the Sea," etc, were finely rendered by comrade F. A. H Stackpole and Commander J. H. Everett with organ accompaniment, the whole audience joining in the choruses with grand effect. Marches were played with violin and organ, and to enliven the scene and make it more natural and warlike, was heard the roll and rat-a-tat-tat of the drums. During the evening two young men—not soldiers—gave an exhibition rifle drill that elicited frequent applause. One of these Mr. Lewis Fisher showed great skill and precision in drill with the rifle, as Comrade Stackpole remarked "not known to common soldiers, and not worth a confidential in time of war."

Not the least in this bill of entertainment by any means was the "Commissary Department," whiskey rations not allowed, but the department was full of the "Soldiers Joy" in the substantials of hot coffee, baked beans, hard tack and soft tack flanked with loves of brown bread and bowls of pickles. These tables were spread the entire length of the hall, and these were attacked in a most vigorous and determined manner several times by fresh recruits at each time, who were finally obliged to retire, leaving a victorious Commissary in no way exhausted. Some of the "General Orders" were very stringent. Doubtless it is a fearful thing, and requires men of pluck to face bristling cannon, glittering swords and rifles and sabres; but what are these to the order to face from two to four quarts of baked Beans and devour the same under penalty of being shot with a loaf of brown bread This, with some other "orders" of like character was enough to make the stoutest heart quail

But there was a redeeming feature. The one who should inflict the severest and deepest wounds in the assault upon the Commissary Department" would receive the prize of a Silver Medal and a detachment of the soldiers were to examine closely and make the award The result reported by Commander Blanchard was as follows "One gentleman led off gallantly with five plates of beans Some others followed with eight or ten Two old soldiers, who had done valiant service and fought many a hard battle with beans before, carried off twelve plates each Another one called by an almost superhuman effort in going them one better, and thirteen plates went under! And yet another, a most notorious bean eater, went him two better and fifteen plates disappeared! By some of these was the prize taken It remains for an old veteran, one who could win honors, and wear them with dignity and grace to lead the whole company with the astonishing feat of eating twenty three plates of baked beans!" (So reported,) and to him was awarded the Silver Medal, which was gracefully worn during the evening Commander Everett offered the following regular toast

The Grand Army of the Republic Response by comrade F A H Stackpole In a fine speech of some length, giving the objects and aims of the Order and a fitting tribute to the officers and soldiers of the late Union Army

The fling of our country Response by Rev J Smith Mr Smith was most happy in his remarks and was warmly applauded throughout

How best perpetuate the Soldiers memory Response by Rev R Bleaker Mr Bleaky took the memorable saying of Gen Grant, We'll fight it out on this line if it takes right to next winter and so we'll these Camp Fires, these Decorations these military soldier gathering, will best perpetuate the Soldiers memory and Our Commissary Department Response by F W Hoyle and a new feature of the Aroostook was who said the they capture Hinckley that morning was a pot of beans!

At midnight the Camp Fire had burned low And although in three of warmth and, put on another dress in jest it is a most enjoyable affair B

The first week's issue of the Reporter commenced volume thirteen

It is said that Mr John Colburn of the firm of Colburn & Paught, is the oldest grocer in continuous business in Augusta, he having been in the business there about forty-five years, nearly half a century

Thursday noon last, says the Reporter, one of the workmen named Erskine belonging in Augusta, at work for Barker & Co, in Gardiner, on the ice, was seized with hemorrhage of the lungs A physician was at once summoned to attend him, but before reaching the man he died, bleeding to death in about fifteen minutes

The Gardiner Journal says Whether our ice dealers make any money or not the ice business now is a perfect God send to our laboring men. The Knickerbocker had $60 men on their pay roll, last week and between Merry meeting Bay and Hallowell, there cannot be less that 3,000 men at work Even though their wages may be low, the paying out of $3000 per day among the laboring classes in a community like ours, is a blessing that can only be appreciated by poor men out of work; and it is going to take still more labor to ship it than to house it. We sincerely hope that those men who are employing all this labor, may themselves make something out of it.

Some time during the coming month it is intended to place upon the stage a grand military spectacle, for the joint benefit of the Augusta Monument Association and the relief fund of Seth Williams Post, G A. R. It will be under the supervision of Mr. E McMurdle. The Post has been anxious to take this step for some time, but has been deterred from doing so owing to their losses of last winter and the impoverished condition of their relief fund. This is the only entertainment that will be given under the auspices of the Post this winter.

An attempted black-mail case occurred in Hallowell last week, which was "nipped in the bud" by the prompt arrest of the parties concerned, who owned up before Judge Knight, and was finally allowed to go at large on acknowledging her guilt and promising to learn wisdom by her sad experience in making false accusations. The case was skillfully worked up by Acting City Marshal Luce, to the satisfaction of all concerned, excepting, perhaps, the culprit, who may however consider herself fortunate to escape the full penalty of the law, in such cases made and provided

A new branch of industry has been started up in China, by the erection of the steam saw mill at the outlet of the Penobscot quantities of logs are hauled across the lake Until the ice broke up it became so great, the owners could have all cut run through and bring boards home with very little delay.

SCRIBNER'S ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE FOR GIRLS AND BOYS.

February Number Now Ready.

The ST. NICHOLAS Academy of Dressmaking By Mary Mapes Dodge will be the first story in the February number. It has pictures and is full of fun. The pictures this month are UNUSUALLY GOOD.

In ST. NICHOLAS for December the Grand Christmas Number was begun and is still running now

Serial Story by Miss Alcott

Under the Lilacs is illustrated by MARY HALLOCK FOOTE to continue during the year. This same Christmas number of which one hundred thousand copies were printed, contained the opening chapters of

for boys, Tom Mountain, by GEORGE WASHINGTON SMALLEY, also poems by LONGFELLOW and BRYANT, portraits of Miss Alcott, half a dozen short stories, pictures, poems, etc., etc. It is the handsomest number of a child's magazine ever issued.

The NEW YORK TRIBUNE says:

ST. NICHOLAS has a list of contributors which no other child's magazine or newspublications of any sort in the world can boast. It has secured the best writers in America to furnish stories to the task of giving good and imparting cultures to children. In the awakened desire for literature that the stenotype has brought, strong, vitally wholesome and healthy stories, attractive as they can be made, are required. In this respect ST. NICHOLAS is noted. Its high principles, form and contents, for this reason, are more necessary and better than any of its contemporaries.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1878

Besides the SERIAL STORIES above announced, will appear stories by the author of The Schonberg-Cotta Family, and LIFE AND ADVENTURES IN THE FAR WEST, by Hon. JOAQUIN MILLER, the latter will begin in March. Around the world in a Yacht. Boys" has been promised by the brilliant writer for children, and there will be contributions by the daughter of the famous Poet Parsons and a Letter to Boys, by

GEORGE MACDONALD

The HOW Series for this year, by various writers, will tell HOW to build your own boat, HOW to ride, HOW to box, HOW to row, HOW to swim, HOW to play ball, HOW to play cricket, HOW to play football, HOW to play hockey, HOW to play golf, HOW to skate, HOW to play tennis, HOW to play croquet, HOW to camp out, HOW to row in a race, HOW to sail a boat, HOW to train animals, HOW to make a kite, HOW to make a sled, HOW to make a boat, HOW to make a parlor magician, HOW to make a balloon
